Wyoming Council for Women awards inaugural Woman Entrepreneur Award to Kylah Bowers of Pinedale

The Wyoming Council for Women (WCW) is pleased to announce that Kylah Bowers who owns Altitude Drug in Pinedale, WY is the winner of the inaugural Woman Entrepreneur Award.

The Women's Council received nominations from around the state including Jackson, Gillette, Lander, Cheyenne, Buffalo, Rock Springs, Casper, and Wheatland. According to committee chair, Jan Torres, "It was a great state-wide pool and the scoring was very close. It was so rewarding to see the array of unique women-owned businesses from around the state."

The Council developed the Woman Entrepreneur Award to recognize and support woman-owned businesses in Wyoming and increase attention to the contribution women make to Wyoming's economy through unique, creative enterprises. Women in Wyoming who own businesses in operation for at least three years, generate a minimum of $5,000 annually, and whose products provide a quantifiable service were eligible for nomination.

Kylah Bowers is a Wyoming native and received both her Bachelor's degree and Doctorate of Pharmacy from the University of Wyoming. After working for a chain pharmacy for two years, she realized that she wanted to be part of a different kind of practice, one that put relationships at the center of the work. She opened Altitude Drug in Pinedale in 2009 and is proud to be Sublette County's only locally owned and operated pharmacy providing "pharmaceutical care at new heights."

According to Jennifer Zook, who nominated Kylah Bowers for this honor, "Kylah not only provides quality service and products to Sublette County, but she also gives back to the community through financial support of multiple organizations and events as well as through volunteer time."

The Wyoming Council for Women is proud to be able to honor Kylah Bower and Altitude Drug at an awards breakfast on December 20, 2018 at 8:30am at the Sublette County Chamber of Commerce. For more information or to RSVP, please contact the Sublette County Chamber of Commerce at 307-367-3419.
